

Triangle by Mac Barnett and Jon Klassen
Book of the Week Activities

Here are some activities to try at home related to the book of the week - Triangle (please see video of story).

Monday

Talk to a member of your family about the book and tell them what your favourite part of the book is. Can you explain why? (This can be done in your home language) Ask them what their favourite part was.

Tuesday

Watch the story of Triangle again. What do you think will happen next? Draw a picture and share with your family. Maybe they could do the same.

Wednesday

Act out the stories with one of your family. Who will be triangle? Who will be square? Remember to use your body, face and voice to act. Swap characters. Who did you enjoy being the most - triangle or square? Why?

Thursday

Go on a shape hunt around your home. What different shapes can you find? How many triangles can you find? How do you know its a triangle? Are the sides the same length? Can you find a small/medium/big triangle?

Friday

Think of a shape. Make up your own story about that shape. What happens first? What happens next? How does it end? Tell one of your family your story and ask them to write it down. Maybe you could make a front cover for your story.

As always, these are just ideas of what you could do. If you or your child has other ideas, please explore these and have fun! Don't forget to upload your activities (related to the book or not) to Evidence Me so you can share what you have been doing.
